WOMAN BELIEVES SHE IS LONG LOST ANNIE MOONEY

Has Annie Mooney, who so mysteriously disappeared at a carpenters' picnic at Belmont, thirty-one years ago, been found at last, in the person of Mrs. G. E. Kostadt of 1550 Dolores street, San Francisco. Mrs. Kostadt firmly believes she is the long lost Annie Mooney and tells a remarkable story of having been kidnapped by Chinese, rescued after two years and placed in a Presbyterian mission and later adopted by a Portuguese man and wife. She was married at the age of eighteen to a man named Kostadt. All the facts in her case coincide almost exactly with that of Annie Mooney. Besides, she has a Mooney resemblence and bears the first name of Annie.

The connection between the mysterious Annie Mooney case and the case of Mrs. Kostadt was made known through an advertisement placed in a San Francisco paper by Mrs. Kostadt, telling of her unusual life from the time she was a babe. The advertisement was read by the husband of Annie Mooney's sister, who with the other members of the Mooney family, is endearvoring to establish the fact whether or not Mrs. Kostadt is the long lost sister.

SUPERVISORS WILL HELP CONTRACTORS GET ROCK

An informal meetingof the board of supervisors was held Tuesday morning, which was attended by a delegation of property owners from Woodside and Portola and also a number of contractors now engaged in constructing the county highways.

The meeting was called for the purpose of discussing the question of the delay in completing the highways caused by the inability of the contractors to procure rock from the Stanford quarry and also from Stone and Co. The supervisors and Surveyor Neuman assured the property owners that they were doing everything they could to aid the contractors in securing the necessary rock; and Mr. Stone, who was present, declared that he was ready to deliver the rock to the contractors as soon as cars could be provided for transportation.

After further discussion it was agreed that Surveyor Neuman, Chairman Francis, Contractor Willison and Mr. Stone should meet that afternoon at the office of the traffic manager of the Ocean Shore Railroad and formulate plans for a quick delivery of materials for the coast side roads.

The "Missing Link" in the State highway between Beresford and Belmont also came up for discussion. Supervisor Brown reported that he had interviewed Division Engineer Loder a week ago, who told him that there would be some action in the matter within ten days.

Arrested For Speeding

J. A. Nelson of 509 6th street, San Francisco, was arrested Sunday by Motorcycle Officer James Logan for speeding and was fined $15 by Judge Seely Monday. Thomas Walters of San Francisco was also arrested Sunday by Officer Logan for violating the speed laws and will be tried today.

Stores to Observe Two Holidays

LITTLE TOTS ENJOY PARTY AND AUTOMOBILE RIDE

Jessie Bailey was given a surprise party Tuesday afternoon in honor of her sixth birthday. A number of her young friends gathered at her home on Cassia street and enjoyed different games. The guests were afterwards taken on an automobile ride and upon their return found dainty refreshments awaiting them.

Among those present were: Oliver Seeley, Jane Roussell, George Rice, Alice Putman, Theodore Parker, Genevieve Bailey, Ralph Stothers, Ida Stafford, Rudolph Marcus, Jessie Bailey, Will Kirste, Elton Rice and Irene Salisbury.

The residence of H. R. Williams on Stambaugh street was entered by thieves Monday night and a number of valuables including a gold bracelet and furs were stolen. There is no clew to the robbers. Williams is employed by Wright, Anderson and Yost.

TRUCK DRIVERS FINED FOR VIOLATING TRAFFIC LAWS

Three drivers for the contracting firm of Blanchard-Brown and Company—Fred Scott, A. George and A. Petrochi, were arrested Saturday by Under-sheriff H. W. Lampkin and charged with violating the provisions of county ordinance No. 274, recently passed by the Board of Supervisors regulating heavy traffic over the county highways.

The specific charge in each case was driving and operating an auto truck on a public highway carrying a weight in excess of six tons and traveling at a rate of speed greater than ten miles per hour. The evidence against the offenders was gathered by Surveyor James V. Neuman, assisted by Under-sheriff Lampkin.

In Judge Seely's court Monday the three men pleaded guilty to the charges against them, but offered as an excuse, their ignorance of the existence of the ordinance. In order to establish a precedent in the case, Judge Seely fined the offenders $100 each, but later suspended the fines. District Attorney Swart acted as prosecutor.

WHEN TAXES FALL DUE AND BECOME DELINQUENT.

The first installment of county taxes falls due this year on the third Monday in October, instead of the second Monday in October, and the second installment falls due on the first Monday in January. The first installment becomes delinquent the first Monday in December and the second installment the last Monday in April.

Tax Collector Ambrose McSweeney is sending out notices to taxpayers, informing them that the statement of taxes will be ready after the third Monday in October. He requests that a full description of property be given in writing for taxes and also a notification of change of address.

Special Election Information

County Clerk Nash has furnished the following information in the matter of the special election to be held on October 26th.

At said election there will be two referendum measures and nine constitutional amendments submitted to the voters.

Registration for said election closes on September 25th. This applies to all those who have not registered since January 1, 1914.

The new election laws provide that sample ballots must be mailed at least ten days and the proposed constitutional amendments at least fifteen days before said election, instead of five days as heretofore.

While the new election laws provide a different method for the appointment of election officers, this law will not apply at this election as the Attorney General ruled that it is a special election, consequently, instead of 6 election officers the board of supervisors may appoint but 4, namely; one judge, one inspector, and two clerks. These will be appointed by the board of supervisors on Monday, September 13, 1915. Notice of said election is then mailed to each inspector who posts a copy thereof at his polling precinct. No publication of said election notice is required.

BARNES BIG CIRCUS WILL EXHIBIT IN REDWOOD CITY

Big Aggregation of Animal Wonders Will be Shown Local People

The Al. G. Barnes big three ring wild animal circus will exhibit in Redwood City on Saturday, September 18th, giving performances at 2 and 8 o'clock p. m.

Much can beclaimed for the originality and genuine merit of this big circus. There is all the pomp and splendor of the circuses we have known in the past. All the glittering tinsel, sawdust rings, inspiring music and grand entrance of stately horses, ponies, elephants, performers and clowns

Instead of the usual, one sees the very unusual in the Barnes program. The principal acts are done by educated wild and domestic animals in two rings and a big steel-barred arena. These animal actors number 600 and are trained to an amazing degree of proficiency. Such vim and dash do they put into their work that not a dull moment is experienced from the grand cavalcade entry until the finay group of man-eating lions are driven to their cages.

There are acrobats, jugglers, aerial performers, highdivers, bare back riders and all other forms of circus entertainment, but, instead of people appearing in the acts, wild and domestic animals take their places. Lions, leopards, pumas and bears ride galloping horses; sea lions juggle balls and other articles, dogs and monkeys jump from the top of the tent into nets; elephants act as clowns and do many other comical things; high school horses and beautiful ponies appear in brilliant dances and military drills, in fact almost every species of animal is shown as an actor.

Thursday evening on the eve of his departure east a large number of parishioners gathered at Knights of Columbus hall and gave the devoted clergyman a reception and also a gift of a certified check of $1078. The presentation was made by J. J. McGrath who became quite eloquent in enumerating the good deeds of the clergyman while in San Mateo. Father Dugan responded most feelingly and was very witty in his remarks. For the first few seconds he was almost overcome with emotion. Father Callaghan was present and fully appreciated the honors paid his young assistant.

Father Cavanaugh, a graduate of St. Patrick' Seminary at Menlo Park, will succeed Father Dugan, who is a graduate of the State University. He is well read and a highly cultured man.

MAY EXTEND JAMES STREET TO DEPOT

Residents of West Side of City Petition Council to Provide New Avenue of Travel

The adjourned meeting of the city council last Monday evening was an unusually long one, much time being devoted to a discussion of prospective work of street improvement, the purpose for which the meeting was primarily held. Several other matters of city business, mostly of minor importance were also discussed, all of the trustees being present at the meeting.

Undoubtedly the matter of most importance, especially as concerns residents of the western portion of the city, was a proposed extention of James street to an intersection with Winslow street, thus affording another avenue of approach to the Southern Pacific depot. This matter had not been upon the regular program for the meeting, but was called to the attention of the trustees by the presentation of a very numerously signed petition from residents and property owners of that section asking that the council endeavor to formulate some plan which would permit of the desired extention being made within the very near future. That the project is a good one was admitted readily, and just as readily it was discovered that it was one far from easy of accomplishment. First of all, there appeared the necessity of devising means for securing the necessary right of way, which while not extremely lengthy extends over property somewhat valuable and, in at least one instance, difficult to secure from the fact that the new street must cross a portion of the right of way of the Southern Pacific tracks as well as the yard property of that company. Again, unless extreme precautions are taken, another dangerous railway crossing wil be added to those already causing much worry, both to city and railway officilas. R. F. Chilcott, who is the owner of some property which the extension must cross, appealing personally and volunteered to make considerable concessions provided the extension were made in a direct line and the James street sewer was extended so as to provide a practicable outlet. George H. Irving, was present at the council the importance of providing a more practicable outlet for the sewer in James street, explaining that this was the only practicable means of providing sanitary accomodations for a portion of the Redwood Highlands which at this time is rapidly being occupied with new residences. As an evidence of good faith, Mr. Irving volunteered the statement that his company stood ready to bear any reasonable proportion of the expense necessary for the extention of this sewer and offered his services in co-operation with any effort the trustees might make. It was generally recognized that the first important step in the proposed extention was to secure the co-operation of the Southern Pacific officials and that this portion of the problem might be solved with the least possible delay the entire question was referred to Trustee Tuchsen, chairman of the street committee, who will confer with the railway officials and other interested property owners.

Reports upon the proposed closing to navigation of that portion of Redwood Creek lying between Broadway and East Bradford streets, City Attorney Mansfield reported that he had been informed by Colonel Rees of the army engineer corps that it was the settled policy of the War Department to permanently retain jurisdiction over any stream which had once been declared navigable. Colonel Rees, however, explained that it was probable that if suitable plans for the erection of flood gates at the East Bradford street bridge were submitted to the proper authorities these might be sanctioned and permission for their installation be granted. As the following of this suggestion would accomplish all the results desired by the city, Superintendent of Streets Dickey and City Engineer Sears were requested to prepare and submit at the next meeting plans for the removal of the flood gates at Broadway to the bridge at East Bradford street, with the necessary alternations to insure the stability of the latter structure, together with an estimate of the cost of the work.

At the suggestion of Trustee Deleau, the Superintendent of Streets was directed to submit at the next meeting an estimate of the cost of extending the present six-inch water main in Roosevelt avenue to Junipero street. While the proposed extention will accomodate several prospective water consumers, its chief object is the affording of adequate fire protection to that section.

As a matter of temporary convenience to residents along that thoroughfare, the Superintendent of Streets was instructed to make such repairs to Roosevelt avenue as will render the roadway passable during the coming winter. This action was taken with the understanding that with the passing of the next rainy season, steps would be taken to require that permanent repairs be made at the expense of the owners of abutting property.

A communication from the secretary of the League of California Municipalities announced that the eighteenth annual session of that organization would be held at Oakland during the next week. Although no official delegates to the convention were named, several of the trustees and other city officials announced their intention of attending and it is probable that this city will be well represented in all its departments.

Trustee Tuchsen announced that the proposed ordinance regulating the width of tire to be required of vehicles on the public street would in all probabilities be ready for presentation at the next meeting.

Considerable time was devoted to another general discussion of the provisions necessary to be incorporated in the proposed traffic ordinance, following which an adjournment was taken until next Tuesday evening, the date of the regular meeting falling upon a legal holiday.

BENEDICTS REGAIN LAURELS AFTER HARD FOUGHT BATTLE

Single Men are Forced to Relinquish Claims to Local Championship

The annual big game between the married and single men is over and the events of the game have gone down in history. In the days to come the married men will relate to their grand-children how after nine innings of hard playing they defeated their younger rivals by a 17 to 14 score. The single men were the victors last year and so they paraded upon the field, bearing a big banner labeled "Champions 1914." The championship banner seems to be a jinx, for on each occasion the team bearing it upon the field comes out on the short end of the score of the game that day.

As for last Sunday's game, Captain Ligouri of the single men's team called "heads" and the quarter landed so. He chose to go to bat last and sent his team out on the diamond. Dan Stafford led off for his married brothers. He got his bat in the way of the very first pitched ball, which glanced off and hit him in the eye. Dan was put "hors de combat" for a few minutes, but with the aid of a gang of life savers and the "amps" was soon put on his feet and steered back to bat. Then the excitement started. Dan cracked one to McCracken, who kicked it all over the infield and Dan was safe. The tale of that first inning is too sad to relate but be it said that when the third man was put out nine runs had scored and a sad bunch of single men took the bench.

The single men then came to bat. On the uniforms they wore were the letters of Santa Clara University. Maybe the idea was to instill fear into their opponents, but the benedicts were not worrying, as they wore the outfit of the regular Redwood City team and felt safe. After the first two men were out, the bachelors started to do things themselves and before the last out was made five runs were scored.

In the second inning the married men scored another on a walk sacrifice, steal and passed ball. In their half of the same inning the bachelors scored two on a bunch of hits.

Three runs were the married men's total in the third, scored by walks and hits. The single men scored one on two hits and a couple of errors. Neither side scored in the fourth or fifth. It was in the last that Jim Hedge proved himself a hero. The bachelors succeeded in getting the bases full with one out. Jack Anderson hit a liner to left, Hedge coming in on the dead run and caught the ball off his shoe laces and doubled McCracken at second. If this hit ever got through it would have been disasterous, as the runners had all started with the crack of the bat.

In the sixth the single men scored one on a couple of hits and errors. The married men had previously in this inning scored four by bunching hits and taking advantage of a few errors. This inning saw the last of the scoring by the men who are called "father." With the score standing 17to 9 against them, the single men came to bat in the seventh inning determined to win or bust. Three runs scored in this inning. They were shut out in the eighth due mainly to McCracken's foolish try for third, he being thrown out easily by Botto from center field. In the ninth a walk and a couple of hits brought in a couple more runs but Botto again proved his ability by grabbing two out-field flies after long runs much to the chagrin of the bachelors.

Lampkin caught for the married men and fully redeemed himself for last year's showing. He never caught better in his life and also was a bear at the bat, securing four hits out of five times up. Bill Curran also secured four hits. The battery for the married men secured as many hits as all the rest of the team together. Special mention must be made of Botto and Hedge. Were it not for these two, the single men would have won easily. Roy Curran and Beeger, the two short stops, showed marked ability in booting the ball. Al Michaels did well, pitching, allowing two less hits than Curran, but his team fell down behind him. Jack Anderson and Dan Stafford both played a good first base. Dan made at least one good stop when he had to fall flat to get one and what is more he held on to it. Jack Shields stopped all that came his way but his rang finder was out of order. McCracken, Beeger, Moody and Sampson hit well for the single men.

Of course moving pictures were taken and everybody has seen them so nothing need be said. As soon as all recover the use of their arms and legs there will be a big banquet which the single men, as losers, will provide. Fred Chilcott and Ed. Stack umpired the game.

Commission, 75 of the choicest ferns and potted plants were artistically grouped about the rooms, making a fine effect. Mrs. H. C. Finkler, president of the organization in a short address extended a cordial welcome to the guests and thanked the latter for their loyalty and support during the past year. Mrs. George A. Twenty-five members of Redwood City Lodge, No. 168, F. and A. M., went down to Palo Alto last night to attend the reception given to Grand Master Benjamin F. Bledsoe on his official visit to this jurisdiction. The evening was very pleasantly spent in the exemplification of the work, in speech making and at a banquet

Mr. and Mrs. John Weller and their daughter, Ruth, arrived home from Shasta Springs during the week. They were accompanied by Thomas Byrnes of San Mateo. On account of the sudden death of his brother he was compelled to come home and Mr. and Mrs. Weller accompanied him, thus cutting their vacation.

The pictures of the baseball game and parade of last Sunday which were shown at the Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday evenings were clear and well taken. It was interesting to watch the antics of our fellow townsmen. While all of the actors were good, P. P. Chamberlain showed off to the best advantage. Believe us, P. P. C. is some movie actor.

Fred A. Reynolds, a bright young attorney just out from New York, contemplates opening offices in Redwood City. He was in town during the week taking a survey of the surroundings. He was admitted to practice by the supreme court of California before the fire and after that disaster departed for New York where he has been practicing his profession ever since. Mr. Reynolds is a brother of Dr. Robert Reynolds of Palo Alto.

NEW SWIMMING CLUB WILL HELP TO IMPROVE CREEK.

As a sequel to the campaign started several weeks ago for the improvement and beautifying of the Redwood creek in the down town section, about fifty young men of the city met last Thursday and orgainzed the Redwood City Swimming Club.

The club went on record as heartily endorsing the improvement plans and to show their enthusiasm and willingness to co-operate in the work, a committee was appointed to confer with Street Superintendent J. C. Dickey and arrange a day when all the members would get together and clean out the creek of old cans, bottles and other debris. As soon as permission can be obtained from the rightful property owners, the club will erect bath houses, platforms and spring boards.

The first officials are Norman Mackenzie, president; George Lamb, vice president; Eric Thompson, secretary; Charles McCracken, treasurer.

The youth tells a strange story about wandering about the peninsula for six weeks, but he can not account for his leaving home.

Sheriff Sheehan has communicated with the San Francisco officials in an effort to locate the boy's parents.
